

Dear Friends and Family,

Thinking of you at this time of year, when the flowers are blooming and the Honeybees are busy buzzing about. This year, Easter and Passover are the same weekend, April 19th....a true celebration of Spring.

If you would like Edible Icons, my Gold Leaf Matzos, for yourselves or as unique gifts, please let me know. The signed, limited edition of 18 are available and on exhibit at Liz O' Brien Gallery, 306 East 61 Street, 212-755-3800

If you require a special order, in either gold or champagne pink, or a personal color in hand dyed Japanese silver leafs, please let me know. Gold Leaf in sealed lucite box is $1200. Pink Champagne or other custom colors $1500 each.

My Murano Honey Garden is in full swing and this year and we will harvest healthy amount of Honey, always leaving half of it for the bees. This is all very good news!

Centrotavola Veneziano Murano glass sculpture is permanently on exhibit at The Gritti Palace Epicurean School. This month I added 10 new Murano glass fruits and vegetables, indigenous to the Laguna di Venezia. Please visit when you are in Venice

I will have an exhibition for The Venice Glass Week, September 7-15th at Edmond a Venise, a concept store and Gallery in Venice, 872 Dorsoduro.

My Murano Honey, 3 Honey Vessels, paintings and Radicchio Trophies, 2019 are available there now.

I am writing and illustrating a children's book titled "The Mysterious Traveling Honeybees of Venice" Original watercolors and glass works will be available at the gallery with the book.

This year will mark the 6th Annual Honey Garden Picnic in Murano, on Saturday September 14th, 12-4pm. I hope you will be there.

I am currently preparing a large, personal exhibition for the Venice Biennale of Architecture in 2020. More details soon.

My Denatured: Honeybees + Murano project is part of The New York Foundation for the Arts Fiscal Sponsorship program. If you are interested in making a tax deductible donation, please click here:
